

USA Travel Magazine

Whether we go out to eat or need to change the baby in a changing room at the airport all women face one obstacle; where do you place your purse? While many places have taken this into consideration and provided hooks, there are times when you are left with no choice to place your purse or diaper bag on the floor.

Did You Know?

Let's think about this for a minute... we tell our children not to eat off the floor. Why? Because of germs. We also tell them to wash their hands often for the same reason. Did you know the moment we lay our purses or bags on the floor germs gather on the bottom of it? It is a fact I myself have even neglected to consider until now. Let's just say that studies have found some really disgusting germs we'd rather not mention on the bottom of women's purses. And, where do these germs go? They travel along with us wherever we go; in the car, at home, and to the office where these germs can make us sick without even realizing it. The PurseHook can help reduce to risk of becoming sick by carrying around these germs.

The PurseHook takes the fuss out of wondering where to set your purse when you go out to dinner or for a evening drink with your friends. It keeps your close, so you have less worry about theft as well as reduces the risk of carrying germs around with you. With many new styles in the works, the PurseHook may become the next big gift on everyone's list! With a simple, yet classic design, and the small size, the PurseHook is ideal for women's purse, diaper bags, and even backpacks weighing up to 35 pounds. This is one of those great products you never realized you needed until you have one!