

Wednesday, September 26, 2007

Dining Accessory Trend

The right accessories make any experience more enjoyable, and dining out at a restaurant is no different. For etiquette and safety issues alike, women of high society in the 1940's would never leave home without the ultimate restaurant accessory, known as "purse caddies," and they certainly wouldn't dream of placing their purses on a chair or, heaven forbid, the floor! Are woman of today any less savvy, classy, and health-conscious? Of course not. Luckily, this classic restaurant accessory has made its way back into the mainstream. The Purse Hook, from www.pursehook.net, offers the most colorful, eye-catching array of designs on the market. Able to hold up to 35 pounds, they are quite durable and perfect for shopping bags, diaper bags, and men's hats too. Purse Hook is the ultimate accessory to protect our expensive purses and the precious items they carry from nasty germs and theft. So if you consider trying new restaurants and eating out a personal hobby of sorts, than the Purse Hook is simply a must-have accessory... Keep your purse within reach and dine worry-free.

And remember, Purse Hook makes a much appreciated gift for the woman who seems to have everything!

Virtual Press Kit: <http://bestproductsmediaguide.info/1100/product.htm>
Sold At: www.PurseHook.net and at boutiques nationwide. Retail locations can be found on the website.
Retail Price: $19.95-$39.95